

Gagetown School PARENT PAGE Special Science Event Edition

Creating a "machine" to lift a Styrofoam ball.

Middle Level students were challenged to design chairs.

Will it hold up for 15 seconds?

Thumbs up for Science East. They are awesome!

Caution: Boys at work.

Karen from Science East collaborating with Ross Wetmore and the K-2 students.

Michael from Science East dropping apples on the library floor.

I wonder how many bubbles will break when I drop this apple?

I wonder if I can get some more duct tape out of Michael?

Today it rained melons.

This is what happens when melons without helmets hit the ground!

Gagetown School PARENT PAGE Special Science Event Edition

Emily spinning for power!

Future surgeons Anthony and Aaron putting "the man" together.

Johnathan aiming for the outer planets.

I'm getting dizzy!

Dawson operating the big machinery.

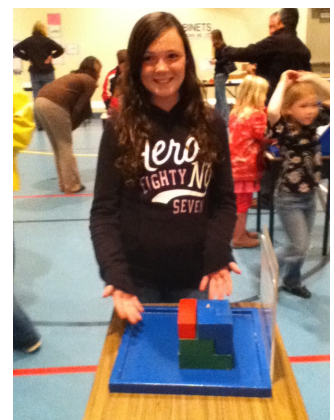

It took all 3 of them...but the tangram puzzle was conquered!

Michael from Science East dropping eggs on the gym floor.
Don't tell Heather Ann and Janice!

Jade testing the Middle Level "chairs".

Rory won no homework for a week by completing the 3-D cube puzzle.